You Ain't Seen Nothin' Yet

So! How do we look? How about that newly-shined and polished floor? And the new paint colors! We are looking much warmer and more theatrical now. (We still haven't figured out what to do with painting the proscenium arch. Black? Grey?) As a matter of fact, I had my heart set on painting the entire floor area as an oriental carpet, but we didn't have the time and, quite possibly, my enthusiasm for the idea did not have widespread support. But that's not all. We have, for the first time, a salaried (well...sort of) Executive Director, Jacqueline Hubbard, our former Board Chairman has accepted the position and already our fall calendar is nearly full.

You may have heard the Playhouse has received a substantial loan from the U.S. Department of Agriculture which we hope to use as matching funds for a state grant. With this money we will probably be able to complete all the renovations we've longed for over the past 20 years. The actors will have new dressing rooms and the electrical system will be brought into current technology. We'll reshingle the buildings, reconstruct the small office in the back, and you will be sitting on new comfortable seats. When? If all goes according to plan (does it ever?) much will be accomplished by this time next year, with final completion in two years. It's such an exciting time for us. But we have "miles to go before we sleep." We hope through your continued support you will walk them with us.
